Heart of the Home

IN MOST HOMES, the kitchen is the center of family life. And in this freshly re-imagined kitchen in Coronado, California, Marilyn Gardunio, CKD, of J.B. Turner & Sons gets to the heart of the family's needs by designing a solution that places the kitchen at the heart of their living space.

For an active family of four who loves to entertain, the newly remodeled kitchen is literally the center of attention. Offering an open, welcoming feeling and ocean views, the kitchen is accessible from four distinct living spaces. The position of the island, along with the materials, colors, and furnishings, works to create seamless transitions throughout the home.

Prior to this project, Gardunio had formed a two-year relationship with the family during an extensive design and remodel of their home in Alamo, California. As trusted professionals, the team at J.B. Turner & Sons was called in to solve the family's latest design dilemma. Working primarily from her showroom in Oakland, California, Gardunio transformed this 1970's Tudor into a coastal-living-style home.

By creating an intuitive layout solution and incorporating her client's desires, Gardunio designed a space the family can enjoy with one another and with friends. Learn more about this designer at www.jbturnerkitchens.com. «
